COMPLETE RETURNS OF "THE TRIBUNE."

The Tribune desires to announce to the public that the last half of the year (an improving fact I am reading the 6), will present during all or part of the election for that period with greater completeness and ease of access than ever before. It will be sent for the entire remaining months.

The Tribune holds the orders for the year 1896, and will not for single numbers of that year at the rate of 10 cents for each number. This offer applies to the entire territory covered, and the daily editions.

Address communications to The Tribune Company.

The money market was dull, with a fair amount of commercial paper. Local demand was about fair for weather, the gas pressure was moderate to feather. Due from exchanges was heavier and sterling strongest. Stocks in Wall Street were dull and weaker, the shorting up to New England was feeling, with a report that $1,000,000 in gold would be exported to Europe. The Chicago street was dull from storm and stringent, with free buying for the return of the election day, which gives this irregular, and prophesies would be selling by the modern bankers kept getting more freely. An unopened wire would be selling by the modern bankers kept getting more freely. An unopened wire

OF

Men's Winter Overcoats

AND

Men's Winter Suits.

How awfully awkward it would be for us if every one of the many, many thousands of "Tribune" readers should all come in today for their $15.00 Suits and Overcoats which we are offering in this

"ALMOST PERSUADED."

BIG VALUE SALE

However, there are several thousand Men's Winter Suits and Men's Winter Overcoats awaiting the response to this announcement, and we shall give you goods worth from $13.00 to $25.00 at a

CHOICE FOR $15.00

While this special offering continues. We find each season that a large percentage of the sales for Winter Suits and Winter Overcoats are for the $13.00 and $25.00 grades, and this has determined us to make a Thanksgiving dash for which many of you will be TRULY thankful.

To such of you as are accustomed to give preference to our "Rogers, Peet & Co." makes in higher grades instead of wasting your money on other garments we've only to say: A large and elegant assortment of these "intimations" await your attention here.

The concentrating of several lines of merchandise under one roof is evidently a popular arrangement, at least we thought so yesterday. Every department was actively engaged in serving the many comers, and every one seemed to go away with that look of well, I'm satisfied I have the full equivalent for my money. So it is every day.

Such excellent Clothing as we have prepared for winter comfort is not to be found elsewhere. The quality is high, but the prices are low.

Suits, Overcoats, Cape Coats, Ulsters, in many, many styles.

We went across the water for our House Coats and Smoking Jackets. Got a splendid lot of them.

One dollar is all we've asked for an extra, well-made Working Dress Shirt.

Just opened, a lot of pretty Neckwear at 25 cents. They're worth more money.

Shoes are an important item in your annual expenses, and there's only one way of lessening that expense—buy the best and where you get them for the least money. Six months now since our particular makes of Shoes were sent out and they've brought the best of reports.
